

The Daily Courant.

Thursday, November 4. 1714.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.
The humble Address of the Principal and Remnant Doctors and Professors in the King's College of the University of Aberdeen, presented by Colonel John Middleton, introduced by his Grace the Duke of Argyle, and received very graciously.

May it please your Majesty,

AS we cannot without true Regret reflect on the great Loss we and all your Majesty's Subjects have sustained by the Death of our late gracious Sovereign Queen Anne of blessed Memory, so we cannot but acknowledge ourselves much comforted and rejoiced at your Majesty's happy Accession to her Throne, who (we have reason to believe) will inherit her Royal Vertues as well as her Kingdoms. We hope your Majesty will look upon your own ancient College with that same favourable and benign Aspect that all your Majesty's Royal Predecessors for near these Three hundred Years have done, and as our true and undoubted Patron graciously protect us in all our just Rights and Privileges against the unjust Encroachments and malicious Suggestions of our Enemies. We wish your Majesty a long peaceable and prosperous Reign, and shall ever study to approve ourselves,

May it please your Majesty,

Your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful Subjects.

* From the Hague Courant, dated Nov. 7.

Copenhagen, Oct. 28. We understand our Court sent an Answer last Week to the Missive the Emperor lately wrote to the King, wherein after great Declarations of Friendship and Affection to his Imperial Majesty, the King says he cannot restore the Duke of Holstein-Gottorp to his Territories so long as the War lasts; but that he will allow that young Prince a good yearly Revenue, if he will remove from Stockholm and reside at Lubeck, or some other City in this Kingdom.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Oct. 30.

Hamburg, Oct. 26. We hear from Stockholm, that the Spouse of Stanislaus when she took her Leave was complimented by the Queen Dowager of Sweden, who presented her with a Diamond Ring 3000 Rixdollars in Value, and by the Princess Eleonora, who gave her a Snuff Box beset with Diamonds, and that the Holstein Envoy Bassowitz is set out from thence to go to meet the King of Sweden. That Envoy has published a Manifesto concerning the Difference between him and Baron Gortz.

From the Hague Courant, dated Nov. 2.

Venice, Oct. 20. We have Letters from Constantinople of the 31st of August, which mention that the Polish and Muscovite Ambassadors have had their Audience of Leave with that Court, and the Equipage of the latter was already sent on board of Ship. They say also, that the Sultan has scraped up much Money, and has an Inclination to a new War, but the Grand Vizier is against it, and is full of fear of being turned out. The Mortality of the Cattle begins to abate very much in these Quarters.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Nov. 10.

Paris, Oct. 20. On the 17th of this Month arrived a Saïque from Catara with Letters from Constantinople, the freshest whereof are of the 23d of August, and contain the following News. The Rebellion of some Bassa's in Asia which was believed to be suppressed is very much augmented, inso much that some Officers having been sent from Constantinople, in order to engage the Rebels either by fair Promises or by Threats to lay down their Arms, have not been listened to; but on the contrary the Fury of the Rebels was so great, that they seized those Officers and some others who would have persuaded them to submit to the Porte, and had the Malice to cut off their Noses and Ears, and send them to Constantinople in that Condition. They have also demanded the Head of the Grand Vizier and several Officers his Creatures, accusing them of having put to Death a great Number of good Servants of the Sultan's without other Cause than private Enmities; and of being concerned in the Death of Sultan Ibrahim. The Grand Vizier has committed to the Gallies those who are returned from Asia so ill treated, least the publick View of them should excite Tumults. He made at the same time some Companies of Janizaries march thither, and has sent Order to the neighbouring Bassa's to assemble all their Troops and march against those Rebels. The Letters from Dalmatia say, that the Bassa's who had assembled their Troops with design to go against the Montenegrins having declared that they would put off that Enterprize to the Spring, had afterwards made divers Marches and Counter-marches, and caused 40000 Men to advance with design to surprize them in divers Places, the Success whereof we are not yet informed of. But as the Montenegrins were prepared, and in a State of continual Defiance of their Enemies, it will be difficult to surprize them. The Provéditore of Castel-nuovo has in the mean time taken the necessary Precautions to prevent any Surprize in case a private Design should lurk under this Appearance, having kept the Gates shut, and ordered the Garrison, which has been lately reinforced, to be always in Arms.

From the Hague and Amsterdam Courants.

Vienna, Oct. 27. There have been Medals struck upon Occasion of the Coronation of the Queen of Hungary, which bear on one Side her Bust with this Inscription, Eliz. Chr. Aug. Reg. Hsp. Hun. Bohem. and on the Reverse the Morning and Evening Stars shining upon a Globe, with this Inscription, Occidit Deus Et Orientis, alluding to Spain, the most Western and Hungary the most Eastern Kingdoms of Christendom. Her Majesty gains a Revenue of 30000 Ducats, which by the ancient Custom of that Kingdom belongs to the Queen from the Day she is Crowned; and when she is crowned in Bohemia she will receive also 40000 Gulders per Annum, which is the ancient Revenue of that Queen. Count Welzeck sets out to Morrow to meet the King of Sweden upon the Frontiers of Transylvania, accompanied with Count Gunstacker van Althan, to both whom Commission is given to command the Hungarian Forces in such Manner as shall be for that King's Service, who will be received attended and accommodated just as he himself shall direct. But in regard that he has declared he will pass incognito through the Hereditary Countries, 'tis thought by some that these two Generals will not meet him at all, for the Troops that remained with him in Turkey, being about 1000 Horse, they will march in five several Columns by different Roads, so that it will not be known in which Party the King is. Others say he is already passed by here privately in company with the Holstein Envoy Fabricius.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Nov. 10.

Paris, Nov. 10. On the 2d Instant Mr. Prior, Plenipotentiary of England, had a private Audience of the King at Versailles, to whom he delivered a Letter from the King of Great Britain to notify his Majesty's Accession to the Crown. He had afterwards Audience of the Dauphin, the Duchess of Berry, Madame, and the Duke and Duchess of Orleans, Orleans, and gave to each of them a Letter upon the same Subject. To all which Audiences he was conducted by the Chevalier Saintot Introdutor of Ambassadors.

For all Indispositions of the Stomach, and Im-purities of the Blood, for the Scurvy, and all its Attendants, to create an Appetite, and help Digestion, to prevent Infection from contagious Air or Diseases, and to keep the Body in a due State of Health and Vigour, &c. Dr. Stoughton's great Cordial Elixir excels any one Preparation in the World. 'Tis now famous throughout Europe, and is sold in most Cities and great Towns thereof, and taken to Sea by most that go: And being such a pleasant and agreeable Bitter, most Gentlemen drink it in Wine, Ladies in Tea, &c. and is of such Use to perfect the Digestion 2 or 3 Hours after Dinner, and create a fresh Appetite, suppress Vapours, and raise the Spirits when dull and low, that few Ladies drink Tea in an After-noon without these Drops in it, 8 or 10 whetted, dropt upon the Sugar first, to each Dish, is enough. Prepared only by him at his House in Bartholomew-lane, near the Royal-Exchange, London, he having Her late Majesty's most gracious Letters Patents for the sole making thereof. 'Tis to great a cleanser of the Blood and expeller of Wind, that Hundreds have been cured of Agues and Cholicks by this Elixir only, taken as the Bills direct, being in French, Dutch and Spanish, as well as English: And 'tis desired they may be carefully read over and observed.
